So you can start to make some noise with spectra Sonics It is an instrument of astonishing power with the variety of versatility.. I'll just double click here, then type in my values In other words, we're telling the de-esser to shine a flashlight to look for sibilance up here above 4,200Hz, and don't bother looking below 4,200Hz.. I can see from the spectrogram that the sibilant events begin at around 4,200Hz and are active upwards from there, so that's where I'm going to tell Spectral De-Ess to start detecting sibilance..
